

34 COMPELLING FIRST LINES OF FAMOUS BOOKS

ONE FLEW OVER THE COCKOO'S NEST  "There is one thing which bugs me for another thing: my doctors say that common sense isn't in the field and goes on being argued by me here I can't reach them." Ken Kesey	Fahrenheit 451  "It was a pleasant surprise." Ray Bradbury	THE PRINCESS BRIDE  "This is my favorite book in all the world, though I have never read it." William Goldman	1984  "It was a bright cold day in April, and the clocks were striking thirteen." George Orwell
THE HOBBIT  "In a hole in the ground there lived a little hobbit." J.R.R. Tolkien	ADVENTURES OF HUCKLEBERY FINN  "This don't know where my raft was, but I was a book. In the middle of them, they got that idea to escape. They think was made by the Mark Twain, but I read the other way." Mark Twain	BREAKFAST OF CHAMPIONS  "This is a tale of a morning of one American, during that time when men are really still when men are doing that." Karl Younger, Jr.	Pride and Prejudice  "It is a truth universally acknowledged that a single man in possession of a good fortune must be in want of a wife." Jane Austen
THE INVISIBLE MAN  "The invisible man really is invisible, or, at least, he is so in a way that I can't say anything about it. I can't say anything about it because I can't see him, and what you know is what you know." H. G. Wells	THE CATCHER IN THE RYE  "If you really want to hear about it, the first thing you'd probably want to know is where I was born, and what my family background was like, and how my parents were brought up, and before that, and all that David Copperfield kind of crap, but I don't feel the going on in. First you want to know the truth." J.D. Salinger	A TALE OF TWO CITIES  "It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, it was the epoch of belief, it was the epoch of incredulity, it was the season of Light, it was the season of Darkness, it was the spring of hope, it was the winter of despair, we were all going down to Paradise as we were going down to Hell." Charles Dickens
THE HITCHHIKER'S GUIDE TO THE GALAXY  "For one in the uncharted backstreets of the Milky Way there are a handful of galaxies. One of these is a small unimportant yellow sun. It shines in a distance of roughly twenty-eight million miles, in an utterly insignificant little blue-globe planet where an insignificant life form has an unusually opinion that they will think of it as 'the sun'." Douglas Adams	FEAR AND LOATHING IN LAS VEGAS: A SCRAPPELION IN THE HEART OF THE AMERICAN DREAM  "We were somewhere around Lumberton on the edge of the desert when the driver began to take notes." Hunter S. Thompson	TO KILL A MOCKINGBIRD  "When he was nearly thirteen, my brother Jem got his arm badly broken at the elbow. When it healed, and Jem's scars were being able to play baseball were smoothed, he was like me in all respects except his talent." Harper Lee
Catch-22  "It was true at first sight." Joseph Heller	Anna Karenina  "Happy families are all alike, every unhappy family is unhappy in its own way." Leo Tolstoy	2001: A SPACE ODYSSEY  "The thought had lasted five hundred years, and the origin of the thought itself had long since vanished from the Quipus, in the mountains which remain and may be broken in Africa, the battle for existence had reached a new climax of ferocity, and the victor was not yet in sight, as the human and pre-human levels, only the small of the earth, as the human could survive, it was 'begin to survive'." Arthur C. Clarke
Their Eyes Were Watching God  	A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE DEAD  	The Pearl  	DRYX AND CRAKE
